

Partners for Youth officers are named

From staff reports

The Herald-Sun

Mar 10, 2009

DURHAM -- Partners for Youth, a year-round mentoring and summer job program for middle and high school students here has announced its new board of directors and officers.

Since its founding in 1998, PFY has guided 28 economically disadvantaged students through their high school years and 24 to go on to college.

The following executives were named:

- Chairman, DeWarren Langley. A former student of the program, he is a first-year law student at N.C. Central University and a PFY mentor with PFY. His term expires in 2010.
- Vice chairman, Darryl Brunson Sr. A retiree, he has served over 10 years as a mentor and tutor for youth. His term expires in 2011.
- Secretary, Susan Herst. A homemaker with three sons, she joined the board to support the program. Her term expires in 2011.

The following board members were named:

- Sue Wasiolek, assistant vice president for student affairs and dean of students at Duke University. Her term expires in 2011.
- Mayme Webb-Bledsoe, senior neighborhood coordinator with the Office of Community Affairs at Duke University. Her term expires in 2011.
- Faith Thompson, assistant dean for development at the UNC Chapel Hill School of Government. Her term expires in 2011.
- Evelyn Scott, senior community relations coordinator for the City of Durham's Office on Youth. Her term expires in 2011.
- Angela Teal, school counselor at Durham Public Schools' Shepard International Baccalaureate Middle School. Her term expires in 2011.